Warner Withdraws His Candidacy For Re-election

Mr. Andrew C. Warner of Sunderland our representative in the State Legislature announces his withdrawal for re-election this fall and the post is available for all newcomers. Mr. Warner was first elected to the office in 1925 and has held office for seven years. Mr. Warner stated to the press: "I wish to say to the voters of the first Franklin district I am not a candidate for re-election."

"For some months back I have known this to be a fact, but have waited so that all in the district might get the information at the same time."

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank the voters of the first Franklin district who have so kindly and loyally supported me in the three elections."

First elected in 1925 to fill a vacancy in the old third district, the following year he was elected from the first district in its reorganized form. Mr. Warner has dealt extensively in cattle and real estate. Before holding state office he had served Sunderland as assessor and school committeeman and was for years chairman of the Republican town committee. He is a member of the Grange and the Masons. During his service in the house he was assigned to many important committees, including the ways and means during the past year.

Entertains

Mrs. James Parker and daughter, Edith, visited their son and brother, William B. Parker on Mothers' Day at the Northfield where a dinner was held in honor of Mrs. James Parker. A bouquet of tea roses decorated the centre of the table and on it was pinned a poem written by her son William which read as follows:

A grand parade—on Mothers' Day
Just see them passing by,
Smiles of victory, hearts so gay,
They've won again, for you and I.

Let's celebrate on Mothers' Day,
With prayers, a feast, and token,
To show our thanks, for her display
Of love to us—ne'er broken.

These roses from Mothers' Day
Are "taken"—to none other,
The purest, greatest, of them all,
The Lord's sweetheart—my Mother.

Several gifts from members of the family were also presented to her. After a hearty dinner the Parker family returned to their cottage on Winchester Road where they have been summer residents for the past fifteen years.

More Fords Arrive

The new V-8 Fords are constantly arriving in Northfield and Spencer Brothers Garage are beginning to make deliveries in regular order.

A large truck with long trailer carries three cars at a time bringing them up from Cambridge over the road and making delivery to the various distributors. Since production is rapidly increasing at the Ford plant these deliveries will be speeded up and Mr. Spencer hopes that those who have placed their orders will be a little patient. As the orders are being filled these cars already delivered will be seen upon our streets and admired by many.

Temporarily Appointed

Owing to the illness of Mr. Charles Warner, our town accountant, and acting in conformity with the law, Mr. Merwin D. Birdsall has been temporarily appointed by the selectmen to act until Mr. Warner returns home from the hospital and can give his attention to the work.

Airplane Wrecked; Dives With Occupants At Riverside Farm

Two young men, R. Benson Warren of Riverside and Harley Richardson of Greenfield, a seaman's apprentice in the U. S. Navy were badly injured last Saturday morning when an airplane in which they were riding, went into a spin and nose dived into marshy land near the Stoughton farm in Riverside. The plane was said to be owned by John W. Bennett of Northfield. The flight was started from Greenfield airport on the Bernardston Road. The plane was of home construction, having been built at Bethany, Conn., and is said to be unlicensed.

Warren and Richardson who were using the plane started off from the field in the direction of Gill and Riverside and when first seen at Riverside the aircraft was flying low and apparently seeking a landing place, when suddenly it crashed to earth, burying its nose in the mud and turning over. Both occupants were extricated from the wreckage and hurried to Farren Memorial Hospital.

Warren, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Warren of Riverside has been interested in aviation for some time. He has been an aviation student at the Greenfield airport. He was recently licensed as a pilot. Richardson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar L. Fuchs of Greenfield. He enlisted in the Navy on February 2 and had passed his preliminary examinations for the aviation mechanics school at Great Lakes and was on a leave of absence before being transferred there.

Thrown Pebbles Doesn't Arouse; Enters Through Window

A prominent young man of Warwick avenue in the dairy business is the subject of much gossip among his neighbors. It seems that on Tuesday evening last he went off to the movies and enjoying the pictures so much he stayed till the curtain pulled down on the last scene. Of course that meant a late hour for the home coming and the kindly folks thinking that he was in for the night, sound asleep, had locked the outside door. However as the clock in the South Church tower was striking the "wee" hour, the young man rolled in with his Packard and found himself shut out. Not wishing to disturb the neighborhood he endeavored to make known his presence by throwing small stones at the window of his fond parents room all to no avail. Then with a spot light he looked for an unlocked window. Neighbors who had been aroused had visions of a burglar, telephones were sounded and the seeming intruder was seen to enter a pantry window. However before the sheriff was called in the emergency all was explained and the young man will hereafter carry a key or get in nights by ten o'clock. It was a case of all's well that ends well.

Favorable Rate; Town Borrows

Town Treasurer Mr. Frank W. Williams has succeeded in borrowing in anticipation of taxes the sum of thirty thousand dollars at the rate of 3.40 per cent for the town's financial needs. ## Town Meeting Votes The Block Pavement For Schell Bridge

Last Tuesday evening a goodly number of voters and citizens turned out to the adjourned town meeting to take up for consideration the needed improvement to Schell bridge. The bids of contractors which were submitted to the selectmen were as previously announced.

George L. Dresser, wood block, $15,598.

Truscon steel and concrete, $17,815.

C. J. Hosmer, wood block, $16,133.

Truscon or Palmer, steel and concrete $19,380.

McClintock Marshall Corp., wood block, $16,240.

Truscon, steel and concrete, $19,367.

Palmer Steel Co., wood block, $19,770.

Palmer steel and concrete, $24,900.

Truscon $24,750.

Sam Filla, Palmer steel and concrete, $24,500.

T. J. Gass Co. wood block, $17,750.

Palmer or Truscon steel and concrete, $24,000.

Mr. S. E. Walker was chosen as moderator and the meeting thrown open for a discussion which centered upon the advantages of either wood block or steel-concrete. Each kind had its champions but from a presentation of the facts the voters made up their minds and voted by a large majority in favor of the wood block pavement. The matter of financing was considered and it is hoped that the State will contribute $2,000 toward the cost and the county $1,000. Inasmuch as the work is that of repair and not new construction the entire cost will have to be met this year and $17,900 was voted appropriated with $6,000 to be raised. The cost over the bid figure allows for fifteen per cent. Engineering expense. The $11,900 not raised but appropriated will doubtless have to be taken from surplus funds. Anyhow Schell bridge will be improved immediately and the Selectmen have awarded the contract to Mr. George L. Dresser the lowest bidder.

Plows Up Indian

Last Monday while Mr. Edward Cemabalyst was plowing in the meadow Tobacco field south of his barn, the main highway, and Bennett Meadow Bridge not far from the river his plow turned over some bones which appeared to be parts of a skull. He investigated further and found in the same place some arrowheads and a tomahawk. Evidently some Indian warrior had been buried there with his weapons in the long ago. The whole section, according to history was once the abode of Indians and to the westward are earth formations which appear to have been used at one time as granaries by Indians. These earth formations were discovered by Mr. J. R. Colton and his daughter of Northfield only a few years ago.

EDITORIAL

The town meeting did exactly what it should have done at its session Tuesday evening and might have done at its previous gathering some two weeks ago. It is evident that the judgment of the selectmen was right in their report and recommendation to the voters of the town and the support accorded them shows that their public service is appreciated.

Northfield welcomes a new clergyman to its midst and he is now installed as pastor of his flock with the fitting installation services of his denomination. The Congregationalists start with a new page in their history and the future looks bright and promising. The spirit of co-operation is manifested between pastor and people and when such a condition exists in any church, progress will be made both material and spiritual. The Herald extends its felicitations and the well wishes of all citizens of the town to the Rev. Mr. Carne in his work to be undertaken for his church and its people.

A very definite and decisive position was taken by the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church recently and the pastoral letter read in all churches last Sunday ended with the following paragraph:

"One thing is clear. If the church of Jesus Christ was ever needed it is now. The world needs a Christian social order in which shall dwell righteousness and justice. The world needs our ministry in hospital, in prison, in country and in city—our social service. The world needs a new generation nurtured in Christian ideals—religious education. The world needs the conscience of Christianity, its faith in God, its joy in living—the evangel. The world needs international fellowship—the church's worldwide mission. The world needs the wholeness of Christianity, the consecration of every department of life to Jesus Christ. This is the church's catholicity that Christ may be all in all. To the accomplishment of this task we summon every member of the church that the kingdoms of this world may become the 'kingdoms of our God and his Christ.'"

Well, may every church adopt such a statement working for its own weal and clearly defining its purpose in a chaotic and saddened world.

The wet propagandists, who have been loudly asserting that farm people are "going wet," get an effective answer from the state of Washington, where a big conference made up of the State Grange, Farmer's Union, Farm Bureau, and the State Agricultural Council unanimously declared their opposition to one of the repeal proposals of state anti-liquor laws, which the wets are vehemently sponsoring.

The farmers of Washington are overwhelmingly for prohibition and farm leaders are everywhere emphatically denying wet assertions to the contrary. Making less noise than their wet opponents, the farm groups, and all the rural forces in that state, are standing shoulder to shoulder in defense of the dry cause, against all the attacks the Washington repealers and nullifiers can launch.

APPEARANCES

Too oft the heart most heavily oppressed
Has learned the art of smiling in its grief;
And though dull sorrow grows within the breast,
In seeming to be happy finds relief.

If we could read upon each neighbor's brow
The record of his secret grief and woe,
How many who excite our envy now
Would cause our sympathetic tears to flow!

Milton Goldsmith

The People's Forum

To the Editor of the Herald:

I am moved to write an appreciation of the work done by the Northfield Printing Company on another pamphlet which is to be sent with the Herald imprint to schools in all the states of the Union. The courtesy and skill of the head printer has been finely seconded by the patient exactness of the office force in a kind of work which required the utmost care.

Sitting in the front office one afternoon awaiting the proofs which were coming in sections for my O. K. I remarked the splendid mottoes on the office walls, and it was thought that if those who work in this printery live up to the mottoes there may be no necessity for attending church as a personal means of grace.

"Church attendance may be a luxury in this case," I suggested, and luxuries are sometimes rightly indulged in.

Appreciatively

The Poet's Corner

UNCLE SI MEETS BILLY TODD

Say, wife, you 'member Billy Todd,
What used to do my hoein'?
A little shaver with red hair?
He allus seemed so knowin'.
When it was night on freezin' cold
He'd come, 'thout shoes or stockin's,
And didn't have no underclo'es
We thot it awful shockin'.

You fixed him some o' my old duds,
He was tickled almost silly.
The Todds was kind o' shiftless like
And sort o' picked on Billy.
When he was passin' by our house,
He allus would be stoppin'.
You'd sot him down afore the fire,
And git him com fer poppin'.

Some on 'em was alright, I guess,
His sisters and his mother,
But I never had a speck o' use
Fer his dad and older brother.
When Bill got big enough to know
How his folks was fond o' shirkin',
Nobody knew what way he went,
Nor jist where he was workin'.

That was 'bout thirty year ago,
'Spose he fergits our pettin'?
Well, you 'spose wrong! How do I know?
Jest listen where you're sittin'.

This mornin' when I goes to town,
With taters from the celler,
There sot in front o' 'Perkin's store
The nicest lookin' 'feller.

He had an automobile too,
'Twas green with shiny leather,
And all shut in with winder glass,
Great thing for stormy weather.
This feller runs right up to me,
It was dum'foundin' really!
He sez, sez he, "Why uncle Si,
Dont' you remember Billy?"

And Mandy, he's as rich as mud,
Has 'bout three dozen bosses
To run his ranch farm way out west,
Jest full o' cows and hosses.
He's goin' ter fix the grave yard fine
Where all his folks is lyin'.
I knows by lookin' at his eyes,
He'd done a heap o' cryin'.

Sometimes when awful pesky folks
Made him feel pisin bitter,
He'd think o' 'how we was so kind
When he's a poor young critter.
He sez, now we is gittin' 'old,
There's goin' ter be returnin'
Fer lots o' things we done fer him
'Afore he got ter earnin'.

His folks is dead, he's got no kin
Save his brother's wife and darter.
He sez he's heard the preacher talk
'Bout bread what's cast on water,

TO A BIRCH TREE ON NORTHFIELD HILLSIDE

Up the trail that leads o'er Hog's back,
In a lonely little glade,
Stands a birch tree, Nature's wonder,
That the Master's hand has made.

Eighteen feet around it's waistline,
Arms up-flung against the sky,
Closely ringed with feathery green
pine,
Rocky foot-path passing by.

Whispered to by wind a-sighing,
Kissed by sun and lashed by storm,
Soft white clouds above it flying,
March across in airy form.

Man-made records all proclaim it
Largest birch tree in the world;
God-made marks I find upon it
Show the bark so seamed and curled.

Distant, clothed in snowy vesture,
Mount Monadnock rears it's crown,
Grand old monarch of New Hampshire,
Stately, watches hill and town.

Keene lies just below so peaceful,
Mount Grace also guards the scene,
Hemlock mountain, closer, easeful,
Raises head in hood of green.

Birch tree is, of course, quite lonely,
But methinks I'd rather be Close to nature and God only
Wrapped around with purity.

Than in city's noise and pleasure
That is sham and not delight,
And my birch tree has full measure
Of God's sweet and heavenly light.

Thus the glade becomes an altar,
Where I've knelt and learned apace
Courage, faith that will not falter,
And abundance of God's grace.

As I turn my steps and hasten
Down the path through piney
green,
Twilight comes and seems to fasten
Velvet curtain round the scene.

And my heart will hold a vision
Of my heavenly Father's face,
Seen through soft clouds gently floating,
O'er the birch tree's humble place.

Believes In Signs

Over the entrance of the store where Mr. C. C. Stearns held sway for many years was put up a new sign last week and it read "A. P.
Lawrence." Mr. Lawrence now makes his identity positive as the new owner of this splendid store.

NARCOTICS

Even the Greeks had a word for it. Their version was, narcotics: to make numb, this being their chief characteristic. The latest radio edition of the dictionary says, "a substance which relieves pain, produces sleep, and in large doses, brings on stupor, coma, and even death." Narcotics can be remedies, which in moderate doses, lessen the action of the nervous system. Almost every one presents some peculiarity in the way in which it affects the system. Narcotics are stimulating, when first given, but this condition is comparatively short. They begin the gnawing stage, when it is agony to go without them. Under this heading we have many variable dopes, as, opium, cocaine, hemp etc.

While some do not consider tobacco a drug, it really is. After chemical analysis of its leaf, it was found to be a composite of nicotine, its most characteristic constituent, considered a violent poison, albumin, a gluten-like substance, gum, resin, malic and citric acids, and a large amount of inorganic matter.

Tobacco was introduced into France as early as 1559, from Spain, where it had been introduced from Santo Domingo in the same year. In 1585, Sir Francis Drake took it to England. The Elizabethan courtiers originated the smoking habit. In America, the culture of tobacco began in Virginia with the earliest settlement of the colony. It is recorded, that it became the principal currency of the colony.

As a commercial crop, tobacco is now confined to limited areas in a few states. The United States produces more tobacco than any other country in the world, and exports about one-third of the product. It is the greatest exporter, importer and consumer of tobacco in the world. The manufacture and consumption of cigarettes in the United States has grown marvelously, the increase in the decade ending 1913, amounting to over 450 per cent. Tobacco has been used as a sedative over a larger area, and among a greater number of people, than any similar substance, opium ranking next.

Studies made on man, and lower animals have helped to demonstrate important facts. If tobacco possesses like alcohol and opium, the power of arresting oxidation of the living tissues, and then checking their disintegration, and if it also produces a nervous excitement which an immature body is unable to control, it follows that the habit of smoking must be most deleterious to the young, causing in them impairment of growth, physical degradation, and often premature manhood. In some persons smoking increases, in others diminishes mental activity. Of special interest has been the action of tobacco on the heart. Here, nicotine is the chief factor to be considered. Experiments have proven that this alkaloid affects the ganglion cells, interposed between the centre of the nervous system and nerve endings of the heart, through the vagus and sympathetic, thus effecting depression or acceleration of the action of the heart (tobacco heart), and constriction or dilation of the blood vessels. These changes, if permanent, can be dangerous in their final results, upon circulation, respiration and digestion.

Examples of these cases, can be found in modern or former celebrities. Let us take the author and poet, Edgar Allan Poe. Addicted to dope and drink, he flourished as a writer of morbid stories and poems that found birth in a diseased mind, but finally died in the gutter from a state of overindulgence. There are other cases, such as Oscar Wilde, and Myrtle Reed. The stage and screen has claimed drug addicts. Everyone knows of the famous Wally Ried, and Jeanne Eagles, two great actors, but drug fiends, who succumbed. Countless cases of so-called genius have corrupted from the use of narcotics. What price genius! Is it really worth it, when we irrefutably pay? Doesn't our America want the strong and intelligent leader? The athlete is all prominent. And athletes do not smoke or drink!

Don't let the slogans, "Are You Kind To Your Throat?" and "I'd Walk A Mile For One" influence you. Have you heard the old saying, "Monkey see, Monkey do?" Don't be a monkey. Be a wise man!

The Third Prize Essay Of The W.C.T.U., Contest

ALCOHOL

If it were not for the effects of Alcohol on the nervous system, the use of it as a beverage would be less dangerous for a person's health, activities, and progressive development. In the early stages of intoxication, judgment and self-control are weakened. The next stage is very dangerous because the disturbances that occur would pass unnoticed and thus make the person more liable to endanger others. The final stage is the stupid stage in which the narcotic effect of alcohol on the higher brain makes the drinker appear gay and unrestrained.

Athletes have shown that alcohol reduces chances of winning games. The drinking player is unfair; whisky ruins marksmanship; and alcohol and running won't go hand in hand. "Wine does not mix well with flying." The effects of drink on a pilot might be worse than lack of nerve. Non-drinking pilots in the long run can stand a great deal more and last a great deal longer than ones who drink. A pilot's mind becomes fuddled and he is more liable to take risks and make mistakes.

Through all the ages of civilization, alcohol has shown its ruinous effect on men. An age of speed would have no place for alcohol because a driver with alcoholic liquor in his brain is an added source of danger to anyone he meets or passes. Caution is needed with motor traffic safety, and alcohol replaces caution with recklessness. Ages of reason, progress, and peace have no place for alcohol as a beverage because alcohol dulls reason, hinders progress, and does not promote peace.

The effects of Prohibition are shown all over the country. Conditions in colleges are better each year. Alcoholic insanity has decreased in New York State. The percentage of alcoholic drinkers has greatly decreased since the act of prohibition. Prohibition has made the liquor traffic today an outlaw. Let us give prohibition a greater chance since the liquor traffic has had its day. George Washington strongly upheld temperance. While he was president, he encouraged many of his men to sign pledges against the use of alcohol because he was very much against the sale of liquor to soldiers. Washington stood for strict enforcement of the law and he did all he could for the promotion of this enforcement. He says of the use of alcohol as a beverage that it is, "the source of all evil and the ruin of half the workmen in the country."

The hope of the nation must not be the hope of the liquor trade.

"A Bridge of Shining Deeds"

The final division of the discourse given by Rev. Mr. Conner on "Service" is as follows—

Service suspends a bridge of shining deeds across the chasm of time and builds the way to a widely or universally happy hereafter. How much of love, of hope, of prophecy was in the sentence of Jesus—"I am among you as he that serveth." The disciple must become like the Master, or he is no disciple. Jesus served and blessed. Oh, that his spirit were in every man today. The earth should be transformed into Eden and verily heaven should be in the midst of us. He brought in his heart the meaning of the divine kingdom and said when he came, it was at hand. The land and sea to human perception took on richer hues, the air vibrated with sweeter tones, the minds of men and women received clearer impressions of the divine love, its character and work.

Over the hills of Palestine traveled he to whom, since he loved and wrought much, all power is given for a gracious mission to mankind. Inhabitants of the region round about felt the thrill when virtue went from him to the world. His first disciples heard his promise, "Greater works than these shall ye do," and they started in the line of generations to fulfill and make good his word. Christian discipleship in the ages reserved for it shall people heaven with the denizens of earth. To the extent that men and women are Christ-like shall the world be blessed and heaven be with never a vacant seat that may not be occupied by the least that has erred. The forces baptized in the spirit of God toil toward victory and their faces brighten with the prospects ahead.

The message of our Christian faith is ultimately this and nothing more and surely nothing less. Christian service shall explain the whole problem in our view, shall open all gates, and shall work all miracles of joy which hide in the possibilities of hearts. The reminiscent motto of heaven shall be, as the advancing motto of earth is, "Service."

The First Highway East And West

The story of the first public highway between the Berkshire Hills and Connecticut Valley, a blazed trail made as a sleigh road through the winter woods is told in the April number of the Olde Egremont Herald. The Tale comes from an official document discovered in the Massachusetts archives by Dennison Dana, dated January 10, 1730 and records the event as the work of ten citizens of the Lower Housatonic townships, Great Barrington, Sheffield and Egremont. The document is a petition that was filed by them, humbly addressed to,—"His Excellency Jonathan Belcher, Esqr., Captain General and Governor in Chief of His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, with the Honorable His Majesty's Council and House of Representatives in General Convention."

The petition, sets forth that, "we whose names are above written did about seven months ago undertake and with great fatigue and difficulty upon our cost and charge make a good and feasible Sleigh Road from Sheffield (Great Barrington) to New Glasgow (Blandford) being according to modern estimation thirty-five miles, by which a much more safe and convenient way of Transportation is now open from Sheffield and the several Settlements upon Housatunnuk River to Westfield and the neighboring towns. . . ."

The document, bears upon the obverse, the notation, "Sent up for Concurrence January 10, 1730. J. Quincy Spkr." It apparently was presented by the petitioners as a plea for acceptance of the "Sleigh Road" highway, which was marked by blazed trees and asked for reimbursement of the petitioners for their labors. Those who signed were John Sergeant, Timothy Woodbridge, Moses and David Ingersoll, Moses King, Aaron Ashley, Samuel Dewey, Mathew Noble, Samuel Lee, and Joseph Pixley.

New England Granges Increase

During the past year several new Grange units were organized in the states of Vermont, Connecticut and New Hampshire, although the Grange occupancy of these old New England states had been believed to be nearly 100 per cent with little chance of more new ones being organized. Grange interest is running high in these three states, whose combined membership is 65,000 with 575 local Granges, many of these owning well-equipped halls.

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

"THE WORLD AND THE FLESH"

Starring George Bancroft and Miriam Hopkins
And On Same Program

Clara Kimball Young and Eddie Phillips in "PROBATION"

Forced by the revolution to begin life anew, 1500 former members of the Russian aristocracy have taken up their shattered lives in Hollywood, according to a survey concluded today.

Of these, 500 depend entirely upon motion picture work for their livelihood, it was stated. Approximately 400 of them obtained work in Paramount's "The World and the Flesh" the romance of a Red buccaneer starring George Bancroft and Miriam Hopkins, which opens at the Lawler Theatre on Sunday, May 15. All were exiled from Russia in 1920.

The most prominent of those working as atmosphere or "bit" players are:

Captain-Commander Alexander Novinsky and Commandant of the Port of Theodosia, the locale of the film; General Alexander Ikonikoff, of the Infantry Guard in Finland; General Theodore Lodijensky, of the Imperial Cavalry, and Mrs. Lodijensky; Major Nicholas Konavaloss, of the Infantry; Lieutenant George Blagoi, of the Navy; Lieutenant George Polonsky, of the Artillery; Lieutenant Nicolas Veher, of the Cavalry; Senator Nicolas Koblianski, of the Duma; Lieutenant Alexander Woloshin, of the Infantry; Lieutenant and Mrs. Victor Delinsky; Nadja Efron, daughter of a Crimean landlord and widow of a Russian officer; Nina Miatleva, daughter of Moscow's leading attorney and once the richest man in Central Russia; Dina Smernova, an actress; Lila Carnelli, daughter of an Infantry colonel; Clara Grantz, who spent a year in a Bolshevik jail; Vera Baccor, widow of an officer; Elizabeth Ivanoff, singer in the Imperial Opera at St. Petersburg; Nellie Evans, daughter of a landlord in Southern Russia.

"Probation," the Chesterfield drama presents a gripping story that moves rapidly through a varied background that includes the Night Court, the gay life of the younger social set, and a cheap rooming house. Young Nick Jarrett is arrested for disorderly conduct as the result of an altercation that involves the honor of his sister. The judge sympathizing with the boy puts him on probation and arranges to have his niece engage Nick as her chauffeur.

The story now takes a most unusual twist as Nick, himself on probation, endeavors to reform his employer. This novel situation provides a fine wholesome humor and a wealth of gripping drama. It is a story that will hold your interest to its surprising though ultimately satisfying climax.

John Darrow, as the boy, does full justice to a difficult role that affords him, perhaps, the best opportunity he has ever had. Sally Blane is invariably charming and convincing throughout her many moods that vary from extreme haughtiness to the humblest humility. J. Farrell MacDonald is a kindly, understanding judge, a type that is too sadly lacking in our real courts of today.

THURSDAY — THROUGH SATURDAY

MAY 19-20-21

"THE SADDLE BUSTER" and
"THE FAMOUS FERGUSON CASE"

Daring riders and wild horses provide the maximum of action and thrills, while a gripping story holds tense interest in "The Saddle Buster."

Entirely different in theme from the usual western, this RKO Pathe production offers double conflict without resorting to wild chases and gun play. A young rodeo rider is pitted against twin enemies, a man-killing horse and his own fear with a rival cowboy adding further complications.

The rodeo atmosphere, with all of its thrills, has been admirably captured. Swift moving entertainment is the result.

A wealthy man murdered after a quarrel with his wife; the wife involved with another man; a motive clearly apparent—and what's the answer? That is "The Famous Ferguson Case."

From advance reports it is, as one may say, a typical American murder mystery of the first magnitude—a screen presentation of a tragedy of real life and of the manner in which it is handled by the newspapers.

In fact "The Famous Ferguson Case" is said to be an authentic portrait of the actual workings of the press.

A veteran newspaper man, Courtenay ("Brick") Terrett, who has covered most of the famous crime cases of recent years, wrote the original story of "The Famous Ferguson Case." Lloyd Bacon, widely familiar with journalistic theory and practice, was the director. The cast is headed by Joan Blondell and in the lineup are Tom Brown, Adrienne Dore, Walter Miller, Leslie Fenton, Vivienne Osborne, J. Carroll Naish, Purnell Pratt, Russell Hopton, Kenneth Thomson, Grant Mitchell and many other players. "The Famous Ferguson Case" has attracted widespread attention.

MAY 14-15-16-17

Rarely does it happen that the passing of time actually improves a good story. But that is the case with "The Miracle Man," which—in its new version as a Paramount talking drama—comes to the Garden Theatre Saturday May 14.

Years ago when "The Miracle Man" made its first hit, as a George M. Cohan stage play and as a sensation of the silent screen, it was a miracle picture pure and simple. People were awed and touched by the healing of the crippled child which is one of the great moments of the drama.

One thing is certain, that the story of "The Miracle Man," even ten years from now, will still be exciting. Those who have seen the new Paramount version declare that the most sophisticated critics were thrilled by the scene in which a real miracle occurs, when a fake one has been carefully staged by the crooks who seek to exploit the faith-heal. All the essentials of drama—pathos, humor and above all surprise—are in this episode by which the plotters are confounded and faithful justified.

Robert Coogan, otherwise known as "Sooky," plays the little cripple. Hobart Bosworth is the white-haired Healer; while Sylvia Sidney and Chester Morris play the city crooks who come to prey and remain to pray.

CENTER SCHOOL

National Music Week was observed at Center School during the Thursday morning assembly period. Each room provided a part of the entertainment. The outstanding features of the program were a piano solo by Winona Robinson, singing game, "The Mul-Crocodile Song" by Janet Kehl and Winona Robinson, piano solo by Helen Cembalisky, duet, "Japanese Lullaby," by Grace Johnson and Betty Kehl, and last but not least a solo by Warren Slaght.

The honor roll for the fourth term of school is as follows, Grade 6:—Grace Johnson, Anna Fisher, Madelyn Whitney, Esther Ladinsky, Doris Miller, Betty Hoelzer; Grade 7, Phyllis Fraser; Grade 8: Helen Williams, Grace Tenney, Elizabeth Fitts.

Center School is very proud this term as we have one person on the High Honor Roll, Grace Fisher from Grade 6. This means that no mark on Grace's card is under 90%.

NO. 3 SCHOOL

Richard Mann leads the flower contest with seventeen flowers. Arnold Edson is second.

Arbor Day, the children planted four pine trees.

The boys have been making a bean-board game. The "Sew-So" Girls made the bean bags.

The fourth grade is making Bird Books.

NORTHFIELD FARMS SCHOOL

Donald Chadwick from Wollaston, Mass., entered the first grade Wednesday.

Lee Hammond returned to school Monday after being ill with the measles. Beth and Eugene Hammond are recovering from the same disease.

Ester Dymersky and Chester Sytnik have received State Reading certificates this week.

Arbor Day was observed April 29 by cleaning the yard, setting out three trees and planting flowers. The trees were furnished by Eva Bartus and Jennie Galvie. Carts, wheelbarrows, baskets, shovels, rakes, and many willing helpers made a great improvement in the appearance of the grounds.

On Friday afternoon, May 6, all grades joined in the observance of Music Week. Alexander Kozlowski played the accordion, Joseph Bartus, and Chester Scoble, harmonicas, and Margaret Mary Donahue and Lawrence Glazier the piano. Each grade sang a song which had been selected for the occasion.

Miss Bessie Braley from Putney, Vermont visited school Friday.

HIGH SCHOOL

High School Day at Massachusetts State College is celebrated so that high school pupils may get an idea of the college, its studies, and activities.

The first thing on the program was to register. A ticket was received that would admit you to all the activities of the day. An inspection of the campus followed. The Chemistry and Physical Education Buildings were very interesting. A visit to the library also proved interesting and beneficial. At 10.00 a.m., a horse show was held on the riding park. Those who were interested in the entrance papers and enrolment went back to the registration building at 11.00 a.m., where the Dean explained the requirements and answered questions.

Between 11.30 and 1.00 dinner was served at the cafeteria. At the same time the college band held a concert between the cafeteria and Stockbridge Hall. After the dinner and concert, the Roister Doiners, the student dramatic club, presented "The Swan" by Frans Malani. Professionals could not have given it any better.

The only disappointment of the day was a hard rain in the afternoon which prevented the baseball game between the Varsity Ball team and Wesleyan. Mary Breinig, Grace Randall, Dorothy Stone, Myron Johnson and Frank Huber were the only pupils to attend from Northfield. Miss Lawley and Miss Mann also went.

Friday afternoon the student body and teachers went to the library hall where Mrs. A. G. Moody told about the life and etchings of Axel Herman Haig. The talk was especially interesting as some of these etchings are in that room. At the end of the program Mrs. Wood said she wished the children of Northfield would form the habit of going to the hall to look at and study the articles there.

On Wednesday May fourth there was a baseball game between two picked teams of the High School. Each team was composed of some members from the first team as well as some from the second team. The score at the end of the ninth inning was 4-4.

Tuesday the team went to Winchester where Winchester won by a 17-8 score. Robert Shearer and Ralph Kervian pitched with Clayton Glazier as catcher. The next game is Friday when the team will play the local town team. It would be much more encouraging to the team if more people could go to the games whether they be played at home or away. Let's have a good showing on Friday at the Hotel diamond!

The measles epidemic is still accounting for a number of absences.

Macaroni with cheese, and apple pie a la mode were served for lunch last Friday. Wednesday's lunch consisted of Welsh rarebit on toast and mixed fruit salad with wafers.

Hinsdale

Fred Joslyn of New York is a guest at the home of Mrs. Nellie A. Gray.

Miss Martha Gray and Mrs. Charles A. Gray recently spent several days with relatives in Staten Island, and Long Island, N. Y.

The Pioneers have entered a baseball team in the County league and meet every Wednesday afternoon according to schedule.

Mrs. Rose Holland and granddaughter, Lois Holland, who have been spending the past two weeks in New Jersey, returned home.

The Granite State Mowing Machine company of this town was one of 60 New England manufacturers representing New England's major industries which made arrangements for exhibiting products at Boston May 4.

Wantastiquet Grange has completed arrangements for the staging of "Sixty Miles an Hour," a local talent musical comedy at the town hall on May 20. The production will be presented by a cast of many local actors.

The Keene foundry of Keene, N. H., of which R. C. Averill of Brattleboro is president, has bought the Tilden foundry of Hinsdale which was owned by R. M. Langworthy, and has moved to the Hinsdale plant. In the Hinsdale plant there is more room than was available in the Keene plant. With the addition of the brass department which has been maintained at Keene the work at the Hinsdale plant will be more diversified.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Bennett of North Hinsdale were given a surprise party last week by their eight children in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Table decorations were in pink and white with an anniversary cake as a centerpiece with candles. Those present from out of town were Miss Lillian Bennett of Charlemont, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Moses Bennett of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. William Gilbert of Charlemont, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langmaid and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pratt and family of Brattleboro. Four generations of the family were represented by Moses Bennett of Jacksonville, his son, Edward Bennett, the latter's daughter, Mrs. Grover, and her child.

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Plant Potatoes Instead Of Tobacco

An effort to turn a number of Connecticut valley tobacco farms into potato farms for the mutual benefit of the farmers concerned and the consumers is to be made by the Springfield Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee. The plan is to present to the farmers in the valley the advantages which would come to them through this change of crop, in view of the fact the tobacco market is now inactive.

According to a report submitted by the committee, a survey has shown that during the last five years farmers benefited by a differential of from 40 to 55 cents a bushel on potatoes, as against the price received by Maine producers of potatoes sold in this section. Hundreds of letters have gone out to farmers in the section informing them the committee will furnish a local outlet for their potatoes if they are willing to furnish them. No charge is to be made for the service.

The plan "has obvious advantages" to both the farmers and the consuming public and the committee is anxious to get the reaction of the producers.
